

Great World

By Ross M. Cortese

Running Leisure World's Information Center requires special skills and temperament, and we are delighted at this time to note that Irene Puhmann, who handles that task, has been honored as Leisure Worlder of the month of April.

When you consider that the information center receives 36,000 phone calls and visits in a year's time, it obviously is the most important "window" from which to view Leisure World.

Puhmann has been selected to the honor of Leisure Worlder of the month by a committee of the Historical Society in cooperation with Home Federal Savings and Loan. We are delighted at the selection and we add our congratulations.

Irene has had a long and exciting career, of helping others through her various careers which has included such diverse challenges as serving as the first woman supervisor at a World War II atomic bomb plant and a supervisor of disaster sites for the American National Red Cross.

At Leisure World, where she has lived since 1967, she has been active in numerous community affairs including service to the community's medical auxiliary, having earned a 1,000-hour pin as a Medical Center Pink Lady. She also has served on the board of Mutual 15 and was its secretary-treasurer.

She also has been director of the Golden Rain Foundation before returning to the working world as a move-in hostess for PCM as a preliminary to the Information Center position.
